Springbrook Welcomes New Assistant Director of Development

Oneonta, NY- Springbrook is pleased to welcome Stacey Grady as the newest member of their growing team. Grady joined Springbrook earlier this month as the Assistant Director of Development. She brings several years of fundraising experience in higher education and museums including management of direct mail, annual campaigns, sponsorship solicitation, events, individual gift solicitation, donor cultivation, stewardship, and volunteers.

“Ms. Grady brings to Springbrook the education, experience and enthusiasm required to continue to advance our dreams and goals for the residents and their families at Springbrook” said Patricia Kennedy, CEO of Springbrook.

Most recently Grady served as Associate Director of Annual Giving at Hartwick College. She received her BA from Hartwick College and her MA in History/Museum Studies from the Cooperstown Graduate Program.

Grady said, “I am extremely excited about the opportunity to become a part of such an important organization. I truly feel at home here and I am grateful to have found such a wonderful place to work. The potential of Springbrook is limitless and I look forward to helping them with their continued success.”

Springbrook is a not-for-profit, state-licensed organization serving nearly 700 people with developmental disabilities from across New York State and beyond. Our programs are designed to teach the skills needed to maximize potential while putting those experiences in context. With nearly 1,000 employees, we work at school, in communities and in the home to create a comprehensive learning experience that makes every day a chance to discover, build and grow.
